.Find the keywords in the passage and you are more likely to find the answers.] Here is the table with the title: Experiments of telepathy Questions 31, 32 and 33: Description: This is a person who acts as a 31. _____ or 35. Whatever the case, it is this smooth creamy consistency that allows the durian to easily blend with other Southeast Asian delicacies, from sweets and pastries to modern smoothies and ice creams. The tree itself is always very large, up to 50 meters, and since the thorny sheaths can hang even from the tallest branches, and will fall when they mature, one does not walk into a hardened plantation without a "hard" or at least, not without the risk of serious injury.G. T Thailand, where durian is still very popular, now exports most of this fruit, with five cultivars being commercially produced on a large scale. So, the answers are: Human participation in computers Question 38: Results: The results were then subjected to _____. A immediately became a A confirmed from A durian. Answering such questions would transform parapsychology. A Here, A transform = alter drastically The lines suggest that attitudes toward parapsychology will change completely if you can find some result about whether specially prepared atoms are forming human minds or whether they are not. No, no. As the fruits go, it's huge and imposing. Only the biggest and strongest animals can get past that D.C. And what are they looking for? Exactly!E. Candidates need to check the keywords of the parts of the question and try to match those keywords with the information given in the passage.) Question 27: Researchers with different attitudes towards telepathy agree on Keywords for this question: different attitudes, okay, soft gymnose, neither acidic nor sweet nor juicy; However, it does not want any of these qualities, as it is itself perfect". However, skeptics and advocates agree on one theme: that the most impressive evidence so far comes from the so-called "G Ganzfeld Experiments", a German term meaning "whole field." Here, researchers with different attitudes = skeptics and advocates, agree = agree, therefore, the answer is: E (the importance of Ganzfeld's experiments). Question 28: Reports of experiences during meditation provided keywords for this question: Experiences, during meditation, the answer is found in paragraph no. One fact is true: he smells it before he sees it. Are they sweet almonds with vanilla custards and a splash of whiskey? _____, who then of identifying him. In supermarkets, they are usually placed in mesh bags for ease of handling, while the extraction of the meat itself requires the use of thick protective gloves, a delicate and skilful use of a large knife and a visible effort. It consists of three or sometimes four increasingly difficult reading passages, and there are a total of 40 questions to answer. IELTS Cambridge 8 Test 1: AC Reading Module Step 3: The Passage Title: Telepathy Questions 27-30 (Complete sentences/Complete sentences) [Here, candidates have to complete sentences by matching one part of the sentence with the other. By minimizing human involvement, the idea was to minimize the risk of faulty results. "Here, limit = minimize, Therefore, they used computers to limit the amount of human involvement. In fact, the taste can vary considerably depending on the state of ripeness and the methods of preservation. _____ who chose a 32. In the true spirit of Alfred Wallace, there is certainly a large and growing number of "confirmed durian eaters" out there. In southern Thailand, people prefer durian younger, with a firmer texture and a softer taste, while in Malaysia they prefer to let durian fall naturally from the tree and then ripen more during transport. Early results show that creative and artistic people are much better than average: in a study at the University of Edinburgh, musicians achieved a 56% success rate. The idea was that a person acting as a "sender" would try to transmit the image to the "receiver" by relaxing in the sealed room.
